

Arctic Online Symposium: Hokkaido-Alaska Cooperation Surrounding the Arctic

Japan-Alaska cooperation, especially Hokkaido-Alaska cooperation, in activities and sustainable uses targeting the Arctic Circle is being promoted in various fields and has potential for future development.

Presentation topics include:

- Geological accessibility and dinosaur research.
- Research and development activities.
- Northeast and Northwest Passages.
- Utilization of marine resources.
- Indigenous people's perspectives.

Presentations will be made by various prominent figures and scientists from Hokkaido and Alaska.

In Alaska: Tuesday, January 18, 2022, from 4pm-6:30pm

Wednesday, January 19, 2022, from 4pm-6:30pm

In Japan: Wednesday, January 19, 2022, from 10am-12:30pm

Thursday, January 20, 2022, from 10am-12:30pm

The Symposium will be held on Zoom in English, and is open to scholars, scientists, officials, university students, businesspersons and all those interested in Japan-Alaska cooperation.

Hosted by the Consular Office of Japan in Anchorage

For more information, please visit: https://www.anchorage.us.emb-japan.go.jp/itprtop_en/index.html